

Tricorn House, Beach Avenue, Clevedon

This two storey office building has been shoe-horned into a small site located in a residential street in Clevedon.

Externally it is clad in a mix of stone, brick and timber effect cladding with standing seam aluminium roofing. Internally it offers primarily open plan offices with some areas set aside for meetings.

The works involved piling, an extensive grillage of ground beams and a steel frame, all of which were constructed in the confined area available to our site team.

Internally there are cast in-situ floors, a passenger lift and heating and ventilation delivered through an air conditioning system.
