

Community Hall and Youth Centre South Cerney

Build adjacent to a new residential development to provide a focal point for the local community, this project comprised the construction of a two-storey building to form a Community Hall and Youth Centre.

The centre comprises a main multipurpose hall meeting room and café with outside terrace.

Built on piled foundations, the building utilises a glulam timber frame with timber internal finishes and an external façade being a combination of natural cotswold stone and cedar cladding.

The project also has a number of other sustainable features including high levels of insulation and photovoltaic panels on the roof of the main hall.

External works include car parking, footpaths and soft landscaping.
